On Sudden Hill

Etho and Shu noticed that Birt hadn't come to Sudden Hill. They really missed Birt, they wanted Birt to play pirates and wizards. Birt was lonely at home on his own. Etho and Shu walked to Birt's house. He had his curtains closed. Shu knocked on the door and said, "We made something for you. Please come out!" Birt peeped through the curtain. They had made him a special invention. It had huge wheels, three flags and it was painted in bright, beautiful colours. It was an incredible, monster, creature box thing. Together as a three, they climbed trees happily, they hunted for mini beasts in the wild grass and they swung on the tyre in the sunshine.
